

Ashraf Jehangir Qazi is a Pakistani diplomat, who has held many prestigious national and international appointments, including working with the United Nations. He was head of the UN mission in Iraq in 2004, after which he was appointed special representative of UN Secretary General Ban Ki-Moon in Sudan in 2007. Mr Qazi has had a long and illustrious career in the field of politics and diplomacy, having skilfully represented Pakistan and the United Nations during some of the most complicated periods in humanitarian history. Currently, Mr Qazi writes opinion pieces for the DAWN newspaper, where his in-depth understanding of the Pakistani political milieu can be appreciated.